

RECOGNIZING AND RESPONDING TO TROUBLING STUDENT BEHAVIOR

Where do I start?

If you are concerned about a student, don't let uncertainty stop you from taking action. The University at Albany is committed to supporting students in need. This guide will help you to Recognize, Respond to, Refer, and Report troubling student behavior. For additional information, talk to your supervisor or department chair and contact Student CARE Services at (518) 442-5501 and other resources noted in this guide.

Responding to Students of Concern

- Safety First
When a student displays threatening or potentially violent behavior, individual and campus safety are the top priorities. Coordinated professional help and follow-up care may prevent self-harm and violence.
- Trust your instincts
If you are concerned about a student, consult your department chair, supervisor, and report the concern to Student CARE Services. Promptly report safety concerns and Student Conduct Code violations. Consult with Counseling and Psychological Services for issues you suspect are related to mental health.
- De-escalate and support
Distressed students can be sensitive. Avoid threatening, potentially embarrassing or intimidating statements. Help students connect with the resources they need.
- Clarify expectations
Set early limits on disruptive behavior. Inform students via syllabus or policy of standards/expectations for conduct, and consequences. Misconduct may be formally addressed through the Student Conduct process. Additional campus resources may be necessary to address disruptive behaviors.
- Listen sensitively and carefully
Vulnerable students need to be heard and helped. They may find it difficult to articulate their distress. Ask directly if they feel safe and/or have thoughts of harming themselves or others. If you believe that a student cannot safely care for themselves or plan to harm themselves or others, this is a mental health emergency – Call 911.
- Report what you know
The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) allows faculty and staff to report student health and safety concerns to relevant campus offices trained to handle situations with sensitivity and care. Reporting your own observations about a student's behavior does not violate a student's privacy.
- Consult to coordinate a timely response
Consult with appropriate University personnel so that care can be coordinated for the student. Always report concerning behavior to Student CARE Services as soon as possible.
- Follow up
You may choose to be a part of a coordinated response to assist the student. If you have a personal connection to this student, your input may be valuable in understanding and appropriately responding to their situation.
- Take care of yourself
Helping a troubled student can take a toll on your personal well-being. Make sure you receive adequate support.

Maintaining Compliance with State and Federal Laws and University Policies

Standards of Academic Integrity Policy

Instructors are REQUIRED to complete a Violation of Academic Integrity Report (VAIR) and submit it to the Vice Provost of Undergraduate Education (for undergraduate student violations) or the Vice Provost of Graduate Education (for graduate student violations). Referrals to Community Standards will be decided upon by the Office of the Vice Provost for Graduate or Undergraduate Education, respectively.

View the policy in its entirety here: http://www.albany.edu/studentconduct/standards_of_academic_integrity.php

For more information, contact Undergraduate Education at (518) 442-3950 or Graduate Education at (518) 442-3980.

University Alcohol and Drug Policies

The University at Albany adheres to and enforces all federal, state and local legislation concerning alcohol.

University Alcohol and Drug Policies are available at http://www.albany.edu/studentconduct/alcohol_and_drugs.php

For more information, contact Community Standards (518) 442-5501

Clery Act

This federal law is enforced by the US Department of Education and requires universities to disclose information about crime on and around campus.

The University at Albany's annual security report is available at <http://police.albany.edu/ASR.pdf>. For more information, contact the University Police Department at (518) 442-3132.

Nondiscrimination Policy

Pursuant to University policy, the University is committed to fostering a diverse community of outstanding faculty, staff, and students, as well as ensuring equal educational opportunity, employment, and access to services, programs, and activities, without regard to an individual's race, color, national origin, religion, creed, age, disability, sex, gender identity, gender expression, sexual orientation, familial status, pregnancy, predisposing genetic characteristics, military status, domestic violence victim status, or criminal conviction.

View the full policy at <http://www.albany.edu/titleIX/Non-Discrimination-Notice.php>.

For more information, contact the Title IX Coordinator at (518) 956-8169 and the Office of Diversity & Inclusion at (518) 956-8110.

Community Rights and Responsibilities

Community Rights and Responsibilities is the official code of conduct outlining behavioral expectations for University at Albany students. These regulations and the procedures for their enforcement apply to all student conduct and behavior.

Students should be familiar with Community Rights & Responsibilities. These specific regulations should not be viewed as a comprehensive code of desirable conduct; rather they describe the minimum standards.

Community Rights & Responsibilities can be found at: http://www.albany.edu/studentconduct/community_rights_and_responsibilities.php For more information, contact Community Standards at (518) 442-5501.

Family Educational Rights & Privacy Act (FERPA)

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) is a federal law that provides basic privacy protection of students' educational records.

FERPA permits disclosure of personal, identifiable information from a student's record to parents, police or others to protect the health and safety of the student or other individuals. Unlike stricter confidentiality laws that apply to health care professionals, counselors, and clergy, FERPA allows information to be shared with University personnel with a work-based need to know. Observations of a student's behavior and written or spoken statements should be appropriately shared.

For more information contact the Registrar's Office (518) 442-5540 .

Title IX

Subject to limited exceptions, any employee or contractor who becomes aware of a potential incident of sexual assault, sexual harassment, relationship violence or other assault or harassment involving a student at the University at Albany – either as victim or perpetrator – on or off campus, must promptly report the incident to the Title IX Coordinator. The person making the report should not attempt to investigate the matter. The Title IX Coordinator will undertake all such investigations, as appropriate under the circumstances, and take every precaution to ensure privacy.

For details see <http://www.albany.edu/titleIX>. For more information, contact the Title IX Coordinator at (518) 956-8169. For more information, training and support for students impacted by sexual violence, contact the Advocacy Center for Sexual Violence at (518) 442-CARE.
